A Governor's Testimony.
Simmons Liver Regulator has been in use in my family for some time, and I can say it is a valuable addition to the medical science.

J. GILL SHORTER, Governor of Ala.
Hon. Alexander H. Stephens, of Ga., says: Have derived some benefit from the use of Simmons Liver Regulator, and wish to give it a further trial.

"The only thing that never fails to relieve." I have used many remedies for Dyspepsia, Liver Affection and Debility, but never have found anything to benefit me to the extent Simmons Liver Regulator has. I sent from Minnesota to Georgia for it, and would send further for such a medicine, and would advise all who are similarly affected to give it a trial as it seems the only thing that never fails to relieve.

P. M. JANNEY, Minneapolis, Minn.
Dr. T. W. Mason says: From actual experience in the use of Simmons Liver Regulator in my practice I have been and am satisfied to use and prescribe it as a purgative medicine.

GENERAL NEWS.

What Lieutenant Danenhower Thinks of Arctic Expeditions.

Crimes and Criminal—The President—Finances—Railroad Affairs—Fires—Etc., Etc.

ST. LOUIS, April 28.—Lieutenant John W. Danenhower, one of the heroes of the Jeannette expedition, arrived in the city last night and is stopping at the Lindell. A reporter met the Lieutenant in the streets this morning and found him a pleasant looking man, a very courteous gentleman. He is a fine looking officer, with a strong, compact figure and bushy beard. One of his eyes shows a slight defect, but he says they are steadily improving. The affection of his eyes, which came very near causing the entire destruction of his sight, was caused entirely by exposure in the Northern seas and the glaring effect of the ice and snow. It will be remembered that for many months Lieutenant Danenhower was on the sick list and was forbidden to perform his duties as third in command, but on the memorable night of September 12, in the retreat homeward, the evidence brought out in the court of inquiry developed the fact that it was Lieut. Danenhower's judgment and skill, displayed during the judgment which separated the boats, that the saving of the lives in his boat was due to the Lieutenant, notwithstanding his few opportunities, must be accorded a high place on the roll of honor. Referring to a telegram circulating the conduct of the investigation, Lieut. Danenhower said that all had been brought out in that investigation which could be brought out, and he thought the intelligent people of the community recognized the fact. The inside history will never be told, he said, nor is it necessary or relevant as a history of the petty quarrels of the men on the ship. On the whole, he thought there was less quarrelling among them than is usual among such men, as the discipline was very strict. Dr. Collins, he said, had no right to complain now as he had ample opportunity to bring out all the facts he desired, but instead of putting his questions from a distance of 1,200 miles, he should have been present at the investigation, or at least had counsel there, and as the provision for the widows and families of the lost men, Mr. Bennett took care of them up to January 1, the day when Lieut. Danenhower thought that, besides the regular pensions, Congress would make ample provisions for all in the proper time and way.

On the question as to whether Arctic expeditions, the Lieutenant said that, although the lives of twenty men were not to be considered in explorations which were of great value to the world, and although the Jeannette expedition had been the most valuable of any, yet, on the whole, no ship expedition to the Arctic regions is of any value, either to the scientific or commercial world. The best way to get scientific information of value would be to establish stations where observations could be made, as the chief knowledge to be learned on ship-board was concerning the land and water, which was not of much importance. He thought there were much better fields close at hand for exploration. He said he had no fears for the safety of the parties now in the far north. The Lieutenant is in the city on a pleasure trip and will remain several days visiting friends.

A DISASTROUS BLAZE.

The Fire Fiend Destroys Valuable Property.

WHEELING, W. Va., April 28.—A special to the Intelligencer from Wheeling, W. Va., says a fire broke out at 4 o'clock this morning in the loft of Fowler's stable, situated on Charles street midway between Ohio and Market. It burned with surprising rapidity north and south, destroying half a square. The entire central portion of town was only saved by the heroic work of citizens and a light rain, which started after the fire had raged an hour. The blaze was discovered by James Hughes. The hostler, sleeping in the office of the stable, was awakened by sparks falling from above. The fire was awakened by the Court House bell, and hastened to the scene with buckets and managed to save the Court-house, jail and market-house. The fire apparatus, an old hand engine, was of no account. The property destroyed consisted of a large two-story brick, owned and occupied by Hugh Barlow as residence and general merchandise; two-story frame house, stable and outbuildings, owned and occupied by John Charnock as a residence and a tin shop; a two-story frame and stone and a half frame, owned and occupied by Robert Thompson, a maker; a lively stable owned by S. George and a two-story brick owned by Lloyd and used as an engine house and office of the Panhandle News. Part of the walls of a new building and Barth's was left standing. Everything else was destroyed. Stock's loss on property and stock is between $10,000 and $11,000; insured for $8,000 in London and Lancashire, $2,500 in the Lancashire. Very little was saved. Charnock's loss is $2,500; insurance $800 in Manufacturers' Wheeling & Thompson's loss is $2,500; insured $1,500 in Etina, Wheeling. Panhandle News, loss, $3,000; insured for $1,000 in American Wheeling. The News lost a press, but will start up immediately. Town loss on News building $1,600; no insurance. Fowler's loss on carriages, harness and three horses $1,600; insurance $1,000 each in Manufacturers and Peabody, Wheeling, S. George loss on stable $1,200, insurance $800 Peabody, Wheeling, J. D. Lloyd lost harness, valued at $800. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary.

The Missouri State Board of Health.
ST. LOUIS, April 28.—Gov. Crittenden came down from Jefferson City this morning from New Orleans. A reporter ran against the Governor on the street to-day, as he was walking to the Southern.

"Have you made up your Board of Health slate, Governor?" asked the reporter.

"No, not yet. The law doesn't go into effect until July, and it would be useless to make any appointments at this time. There is practically no law as yet, and I have no power to appoint a board, but there have been several names in my head."

"Have there been many applications?" "Thousands of them. Every citizen in the State is represented, and schools of medicine that I never heard of before."

"Will the chief schools be represented on the board, such as the homeopathic, eclectic and regular?" "You may state that I shall recognize all of them. I think that is the spirit of the law, and I want to follow the law. I think the commission a strong one and I think it will aid the court greatly."

Counsellors Arrested.

NEW YORK, April 28.—The police made an important arrest of counsellors last night and this morning. They have been working on the case since last August. The first person captured, George L. Stanley, is the alleged manufacturer of the counterfeit trade and "Bland" dollars. He fought desperately but was overcome and handcuffed. Next were Matthew J. Rooney, Hugh Curry, Thomas Riley, Thomas H. Kearney and his reputed wife Lena, and Patrick Smith. Mrs. Jennie Holden, wife of Jim Holden, now in prison for passing counterfeit money, was arrested this morning. The operations of the gang extended through Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Kentucky, Virginia, Maryland and New York.

A Hotel Fire.

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 28.—A fire in the Revere House at midnight destroyed about 100 guests out of their rooms and into the street. The origin of the fire was in the concert saloon, on the first floor, and this was entirely destroyed. Several lives were lost. Loss inconsequential.

Whiskey at a Bail.

MATTON, Ill., April 28.—Fifty drunken railroad men invaded the house of Wm. Farrington, last night, while a dance was in progress. A terrible fight ensued, in which many were injured and Jack Harrow is dying.
